

Once you master residential electrical concepts, advance your skills with commercial electrical training. This program focuses on the unique electrical needs of commercial properties. Under the supervision of a licensed electrician you'll learn how to do everything from installing complex electrical circuits to using specialized measuring and diagnostic equipment to evaluate how electrical equipment is working. This program will teach you how to build or calibrate instrumentation, build electronic devices based on reading schematics and repair or replace old equipment. Once you complete this program you'll have the skills you need to work under the supervision of a licensed electrician. Upon completion you'll receive a certificate which can be used for hours toward achieving your journeyman license. The Electrical Apprentice — Residential is a prerequisite for this course.

How You'll Learn Hands-On

Get out of the classroom and into the real world with projects such as:
